Supernatural, Trickster/Castiel - Had we but world enough, and time

NC-17, dubcon, set during 5x08 before Castiel knows exactly who he's dealing with. A bit disjointed, but good I think.

Set during 5x08, NC-17, warning for dubcon

It's too powerful to be a Trickster. That's why he can't stop it from zapping him away, from binding him and from tearing his clothing from him.

He doesn't see it at all, but he can feel its hands, touching his chest, his back, his legs and thighs and everything else.

He opens his mouth to ask it questions, and he is gagged. Blindfolded. There is the sensation of a mouth on his back, tasting and licking.

Gentle bites on his neck and shoulders.

Castiel squirms, feeling hot and tight, but his arms are bound, and his legs, and there is a tongue on his cock.

He arches, his cry muffled by the gag, and it feels - it feels amazing.

There is the huff of a laugh, and then a mouth engulfing his cock, and Castiel can't think, rocking his hips forward, mind blown away by the feeling of warmth and wet and even light teeth working on him.

He comes too quickly, too soon, unable to stop it, and the moment after he does he is suddenly free to move, and clean, and no longer bound or gagged or blinded and there's a whispered apology in his ear.

"Can't do this forever, much as I'd like to, CastiHael." A voice whispers, and then Castiel in somewhere else, on the wrong end of a fist.

He is dazed from the pleasure, but the pain wakes him up and he resets his focus.

He has to get out, and find Dean and Sam, and get them out.

He can find out what this thing is later, for it is no Trickster.
